

There's a Smarter Way to Transfer Your Large Files.

ForFile™ – File Transfer with Smarts.

Today, large files are routinely created by Marketing, Advertising, Sales Support, and Engineering departments. ForFile is a ready-to-use service for transferring large files (over 10MB, and often 100MB or more). With your ForFile account and web browser, you can send large files to anyone with an email address – there is no software to install, no CD's to burn and ship, and no FTP site to maintain.

ForFile is smarter than FTP – it's easier to use, requires no administration, and is more secure.

ForFile is smarter than burning/shipping CDs – it's easier, faster, and saves money. ForFile's smarts include notification of successful file transfer, automatic file expiration, email priority, and comprehensive security including optional file transfer passwords. ForFile is developed and supported by Longwood Software, and is priced so any company can afford it.
